

Four-Year Graduation Plan - Courses and Critical Benchmarks

The following is a sample course of study. It is the Student's responsibility to ensure that all program requirements are met. This guide is not a substitute for academic advisement. All incoming freshmen must develop an academic plan (which maps out all courses needed to graduate within your intended major/degree). Your academic advisor is available to meet with you and create your specific plan.

Your path to graduation may vary slightly based on factors such as college credit you earned while in high school, transfer work from other institutions of higher learning and placement in Mathematics. You are responsible for checking prerequisites to any courses. Critical Courses and minimum recommended grades (as noted below) provide feedback regarding major fit and help indicate likelihood of successful completion of chosen academic program and degree.

The School reserves the right to make changes in courses, degree requirements and course schedules without notice.

Students are expected to maintain a quality of achievement significantly above minimum UMKC standards for degree work. Individual student progress will be monitored throughout the program. Satisfactory progress is required of all students for retention in the program. Students are expected to maintain academic standards, perform satisfactorily in courses, refrain from academic dishonesty, comply with the established University and teacher education timetables and requirements, and refrain from unethical or unprofessional behavior or behaviors that obstruct the training process or threaten the welfare of the student or others. Other circumstances involving student behavior will be addressed by the faculty on an individual basis.

A minimum of 36 upper-level hours required for graduation.

Program Description

The UMKC Undergraduate Geology degree program educates students on fundamental geologic concepts, provides training in field and laboratory techniques and problem solving, and prepares students for careers as professional geoscientists. Through course work instruction, field experiences, and mentoring, students develop an understanding of Earth materials and the underlying principles and dynamic processes that change the Earth through time. The geology curriculum emphasizes developing the ability to collect and interpret field data as well as familiarity with mapping techniques and laboratory analyses, as these are vital components of training for all geologists.

Admission Requirements

The Admissions requirements for the Geology B.A. are the same as the requirements for admission to UMKC. However, the department prefers students to have a high school degree that includes three to four years of math, three to four years of science including at least one Biology course, and at least two years of a foreign language.

Career Opportunities

The US Department of Labor and Statistics projects excellent job opportunities for geoscientists for the next 15 years. Current rates of retirement of geologists exceed the production of new geologists, suggesting an increasing need for geoscientists in the coming years. Career opportunities for geologists include employment in academics, government, and industry in diverse fields such as oil and gas exploration and production, water resources, mining, and environmental geology and work for the U.

S. Army Corps of Engineers, U.S. Geological Survey, petroleum and mining companies, and a large number of geotechnical engineering and environmental firms.
