Program Description

The BM in Jazz Studies degree encourages each student to develop his or her individual sound in a supportive environment. The degree program is designed for students who are serious about becoming professional soloists, studio musicians, recording artists, and other professionals within the business of music. Complementing their study of improvisation, jazz history, arranging, and big band and combo work, jazz studies students take two years of applied lessons in traditional classical music. Frequent jam sessions in the Kansas City Metro area provide the perfect backdrop for students to test what they have learned in a live, ever-evolving environment.
